C[illegible]oir warms hearts with music

Annual Spring Concert draws near capacity crowd

Elk Point Community Choir presented an evening of music and song to warm the hearts of a near-capacity crowd at their annual Spring Concert Sunday evening.

While the concert usually marks the end of the season for the Choir, this year the group will continue into the summer, with concerts scheduled in Smoky Lake, at the Ukrainian Cultural Village and in Myrnam during June and July before approximately 35 members of the choir depart for a concert tour of the Maritimes, August 3 to 16.

Choir spokesman Don Conrad said the choir is "an active, energetic, enthusiastic group" whose "greatest reward is performing right here."

The Choir started off the program with the lovely "You Light Up My Life," followed by "Matchmaker," which gave the audience a brief taste of pleasures to come when the Choir and friends present "Fiddler on the Roof" at next spring's dinner theatre.

"Table of Contents" was an original song by two members of the choir, with Lesley Rebryna providing the words and her son Shane the music. Kim Beardy added the special touch of her clarinet to the number.

The final number of the first set was "Angels Among Us."

Music legend Roy Orbison is well known for "Pretty Woman," and Shaun Sheplawy, just too cool in shades, brought the number to life with the help of a shapely, but somewhat less than beautiful, blonde who sidled in and out of the auditorium during the number.

They call themselves "Harmonious Interlude," and Shirley Osinchuk, Sarah Osinchuk, Kim Beardy and Laurie Keichinger provided just that, with their rendition of an old favorite, "Unchained Melody," accompanied by Shane Rebryna, and a barber-shop-quartet -style "San Francisco Bay Blues."

A family trio from St. Paul was next on the program, Udo Mueller accompanying his daughters Kelsey and Erin in "Here's To Song." Kelsey is a former Community Choir Bursary winner.

The ladies in the Choir surprised the menfolk as they momentarily donned mustaches to become "just one of the guys" for an Alberta-flavored number, "Call Me A Roughneck," written by a retired oil rig worker, and featuring a solo by Shaun Sheplawy.

A distinct change in pace brought Sarah Osinchuk to the piano to accompany the Choir in "And The Glory of the Lord" from Handel's "Messiah." Deanna Easthope returned to the keyboard for "I Hear a Song" and "As Long as I Have Music."

The audience was welcomed back after a brief intermission with the presentation of the 1999 Choir Bursary Awards. Choir soprano Patricia Keichinger, who is graduating from F. G. Miller High School and who plans to attend university to study for a Bachelor of Education degree, was the first recipient. The second bursary will go to Michelle Friesen, a F. G. Miller Junior High student who has performed in the last two dinner theatres and who is going to a summer workshop for solo voice.

The second half of the concert began with a western quartet, with Udo Mueller, Don Conrad, Garry Townsend and Don Buryn as the cowpunchers in "Ghost Riders In The Sky."

Mary Easthope performed a nostalgic Elvis Presley ballad, "Love Me Tender."

A first for the Choir concert was a lively accordion solo by Erica Spoeth, who performed the "Tanzende Finger" Polka.

■ Town Council

Street, sidewalk improvement project slated

Downtown Elk Point will receive a much-needed shot in the arm as part of this summer's street improvement project, which was approved on a unanimous vote by Town Council at their May 10 regular meeting.

Engineering drawings show a new look for downtown sidewalks, which will be installed on the west side of Main Street from 49th Avenue to Railway Avenue and on the east side from the Treasury Branch south to Railway Avenue. Both sections will feature a handsome brick insert section which will really dress up the area.Sidewalks on 50th Avenue from Highway 41 west to the Post Office are also to be replaced and a section of sidewalk north of 50th Avenue to the alley on the west side of 50th Street is also slated for replacement.

A pavement overlay on 50th Avenue and on Main Street from 50th Avenue to Railway Avenue will complete the downtown update, which will be undertaken in conjunction with the major street overhaul in the north section of town.

Funding for the downtown projects is in place, coming from a street improvement grant and capital reserves.

Town Manager Myron Goyan outlined the procedure which was followed on the latter project, regarding the appeal on Bylaw 599/99. After the first reading, ratepayers in the project area were sent letters notifying them of the project,indicating that they had 30 days in which to file a petition. A petition bearing 24 names, out of 36, appeared in due course, and a special meeting was held with these residents. According to the Municipal Government Act, Goyan had 30 days to reject the petition, and did so after noting various irregularities. Town Council went ahead and approved the second and third readings of the bylaw, which was answered by a flurry of letters from 19 of the 36 ratepayers. Goyan noted that there is nothing in the Municipal Government Act that requires the Town to accept an appeal, and letters will be sent to the appellants stating that fact.

Pan Canadian Building

A four member delegation from the Elk Point Regional Cultural Society visited the meeting. Glenn Harms, Don Kadutski, Harvey Aarbo and Gordon West were on hand to outline their plans for the former Pan Canadian Petroleum building, which they hope to take over from Van Horne Petroleum.

Spokesman Harvey Aarbo said that the recently formed registered society had decided earlier this year "that if negotiations between the Town and Van Horne broke down, we would be interested." Their March 8 letter to Van Horne stated that, "but we didn't want to go in and cause trouble for the Town." After that letter, they received a reply from Van Horne which indicated the Town was no longer in negotiations with them and offered the building to the Society. "We have accepted their conditions, and have a reply from them dated April 30," Aarbo said.

The Society sees the building as "a real opportunity. The big building would make a tremendous auditorium," Aarbo said. He added that the building would be available to the public on a first-come, first-served basis and would be large enough to accommodate large weddings and funerals that currently go out of town, as well as such events as community choir concerts. The Society feels this is "a real opportunity to put a $2 million building to use in the community, debt free."

Aarbo said the Society feels the facility would be self supporting, and assured Council, "we're not asking for any support except moral support. We want the Chamber, the county and the Town working together" to create "a win-win situation with the whole community able to use the building."

Mayor Buck told the delegation that the Town has indicated to Van Horne that they are "can live with" the company's conditions, and that they would like to house the Northern Lights Library System headquarters in the building. The Town is currently waiting for Van Horne's response.

The Society also has been in discussions with Northern Lights, who will reach a decision on the location of their new headquarters by the end of June.

Mayor Buck noted that the half mill of taxes that the building currently brings to the Town "will have to be made up somewhere," either by raising taxes or by cutting grants to organizations within the community. Neither the NLLS or a cultural society would be required to pay taxes.

Capital Budget

Council discussed their 1999 Capital Budget allocations at length, discussing which funding, from the current budget, from various reserves and from grants, would be used for each particular purpose. Cemetery upgrading is also on this year's spending list.

Elk Point Soccer Club may get much more than the donation toward operating expenses they requested from the Town. Council has agreed to seek lottery grant funding to build two new soccer fields at the Recreation Park. Community Facility Enhancement Program funding may also be available for this type of project.

County receives funds for road projects

At last week's regular County Council meeting, two good news items came across the table in the form of money.

Alberta Transportation regional director, John Schroder informed the council that they would receive $537,539 for 1999/2000 under the regular Rural Transportation Grant and the Premier's Task Force on Infrastructure.

The task force completed their review of the province's roads last year and recognized the need for financial support in the rural areas.

Instead of an annual agreement, the province has decided to form "multiyear trust agreements" with the municipalities. This means the County of St. Paul will receive its funding over the next three years guaranteed.

Reeve Robert Bouchard said County foreman Leo de Moissac has already made up a list of proposed road projects, including gravelling, oiling, etc. totalling $1.4 million.

The second item came in the form of an Canada Agri-Infrastructure Program (CAIP) grant for the Horseshoe Bay Road project.

CAIP funding will be two-thirds of the actual project cost up to a maximum of $98,868. The County of St. Paul will pay for one-third.

The County had submitted an application for three projects — Horseshoe Bay Road, Gottenbos Road and Habiuk Road. However, due to limited funding in the program, the latter two proposals were rejected.

Council agreed granting of the Horseshoe Bay Road project was a good deal because the other two roads were smaller projects in comparison.

This is "Think First For Kids" Week

By Deanna Easthope
FCSS Director

May 14 to May 20 is Think First For Kids Week. This week is being promoted by "Safe Kids Canada." They can be reached at 1-888 SAFE TIPS.

Since spring has arrived, our children are out and about the great outdoors of Elk Point and area. Do we know where they are playing? Are they playing in areas that are "safe"?

With the "Think First" concept, parents could be checking for:
1. Backyard swings and other playground equipment. The suggestion here is that they be on shock-absorbing surfaces such as sand. Grass is too hard for little heads.

2. Swing chains. Little fingers can get caught in swing chains, so cover the chains with plastic chain covers.

3. Helmets, skipping ropes and hood drawstrings. These can get caught in playground equipment and children may get strangled.

4. A helmet must fit correctly to protect the child's head. At the first sign of damage, replace the helmet. Also, teach children how to adjust their helmets to fit snugly. And, no baseball caps, please. Helmets protect less if worn over a hat or bandanna.

5. For those young children who go roller blading — reduce the risks! Wear the helmet, wrist guards, knee and elbow pads. Teach your child to "skate smart." Share the path: observe safety rules when passing. For example, use hand signals and call out "Passing to the left."

There are more "Think First" concepts and I am sure you could mention some yourself. Basically, parents need to supervise or be involved in where their children are playing. Are they "playing smart" by "thinking first"?

The "Think First" concept doesn't only apply to where small children play. It really applies to everyone. Because this coming Saturday, May 22, is the "Class of 1999" celebration, I hope they will apply the "think first" concept to their celebrations. I understand that it is the concept of some young people that this is the most appropriate time of their young lives to be involved in the biggest and just the best celebration! What that means to them is the drinking of the most alcohol that is available. Is this responsible alcohol drinking? And — does all this alcohol drinking bring out the best character of the young person doing the drinking? After all, when one "thinks first" about what they are celebrating, their thoughts will be one of gratitude. Gratitude thoughts will be toward the opportunity for an education, support from family, teachers and friends. It really is a time to reflect and express gratitude fro being a part of the "Class of 1999." So to the "Class of 1999." congratulations on your educational accomplishments thus far in your lives. May you "think first" as you celebrate.

Congratulations

Health Care Auxiliary hosts annual tea

By Violet McFadyen
Elk Point Health Care Auxiliary

The Elk Point Health Care Auxiliary held their annual Tea, Bazaar, Bake and White Elephant Sale and Raffle on Friday, May 7 in the Meeting Room of the Elk Point Hospital from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

The Raffle draw was at 2:00 p.m. The winners were Marilyn Johnson, Elk Point for the queen-sized quilt, Helen Trach, Elk Point for the 27" by 54" hooked rug, and Tracy Woodward, Edmonton, for the crocheted lap robe. One thousand raffle tickets were sold.

The Auxilians appreciate everyone who donated items, supported the Raffle, and who attended this fundraising event. All the support and help contributed to making the Tea, Bazaar, Bake and White Elephant Sale and the Raffle a success.

May is Hearing and Speech Month

Communication is a vital link between human beings. In the young, hearing loss cuts a child off from normal social development. Like many ailments, the sooner a child with a hearing or speech problem can be identified and start appropriate treatment, the better the resulting communication and social skills.

Through our ears we gain much of our information about others and the world around us. Help keep the information flowing. If you suspect a child you know has a hearing loss or speech problem, contact a physician, audiologist, or speech pathologist. Early identification of hearing and speech problems is everyone's responsibility.

■ Nutrition Notes

Nutrition and osteoporosis

By Julia Painchaud BScRD
Elk Point Health Centre

Most people have heard of osteoporosis, the slow progressive loss of calcium from bones causing them to become weak and break easily. The following factors contribute to osteoporosis: genetics, gender, diet and lifestyle. Lifestyle habits such as regular physical activity, not smoking and limiting alcohol intake can help decrease the risk for osteoporosis and help improve health in general. When it comes to diet, adequate calcium intake throughout life is very important to help make bones as strong as possible early in life and minimize calcium losses with aging.

The Osteoporosis Society of Canada recommends the following calcium intakes per day: Age 7-9: 700 mg; Age 10-12 (boys) 900 mg, (girls) 1200-1400 mg; Age 13-16: 1200-1400 mg; Age 17-18: 1200 mg; Age 19-49: 1000 mg; Age 50+: 1000-1500 mg.

Milk products are a good source of readily absorbable calcium. One serving of milk products from Canada's Food Guide to Healthy Eating contains approximately 300 mg of calcium; therefore most people need 3-4 servings per day. Calcium is present in other foods such as salmon with bones, sardines with bones, oranges, broccoli and spinach. But sometimes the calcium in foods cannot be absorbed by the body (eg. Spinach). Or large amounts of a food must be eaten to get enough calcium (eg. 4 cups of broccoli has the same amount of calcium as 1 cup of milk). Adequate Vitamin D intake (400 i.u. for adults) is important in preventing osteoporosis because Vitamin D helps increase calcium absorption. Sources of Vitamin D are milk (fortified), margarine (fortified) eggs, fatty fish and liver.

Dietary factors that increase the risk of developing osteoporosis are a high salt intake, high caffeine intake (greater than 3 cups of a caffeine containing beverage per day) and high protein intake.

Feel you can't win? Just remember that a healthy balanced diet based on Canada's Food Guide is the key to overall good health. If you think your intake of milk products is low, try and increase. If this is not an option you may need a calcium supplement to help meet your needs. If you need more information, contact your local Registered Dietician.

■ A Thought for Grad Week

No cop wants to deliver this message: "Your son is dead"

Reprinted with permission from the Campbell River, BC Courier-Islander

My name is Cst. Dale Martel of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. I am replying to some of the questions you ask me daily, and am not just one police officer. I represent every police officer in every city and town in Canada.

You may know me only as the cop who gave you the ticket last summer, but I'm also the guy who lives down the street from you. I am the parent of two children and I share with you the same hope, ambition and dreams that you have for your children. I am faced with the same problems you have; I share with you those moments of agony and ecstasy. I share with you the feeling of shame, guilt and disappointment when my boy or girl gets into trouble. I am angry and sick at heart with trying to do my job and being tagged the bad guy, when all I wanted to do was to avert the kind of tragedy you are about to read in this account.

The scene was a long stretch of highway with a sharp curve at one end. It had been raining and the roads were slick. A car travelling in excess of 80 mph missed the curve and plowed into an embankment, whereupon it became airborne and struck a tree.

At this point, two young passengers were hurled from the vehicle, one into a tree, the other onto the roadway where the car landed on him, snuffing out his life like a discarded cigarette crushed on the asphalt. He was killed instantly. He was the lucky one.

The girl thrown into the tree had her neck broken. She had been voted queen of the senior prom, and the student most likely to succeed. She will spend the next 60 years or more in a wheelchair. Able to do little else, she will live and relive the terrible moment over and over again in her mind.

By the time I arrive, the car had come to rest on its top, the broken wheels had stopped spinning. Smoke and steam were pouring from the engine, ripped from its mountings by a terrible force.

An eerie calm had settled over the scene and it appeared deserted except for one lonely traveller who had called it in. He had been sick to his stomach and was leaning against his car for support.

The driver was conscious but in shock, and was unable to free himself from under the bent and twisted steering column. His face will be forever scarred from the deep cuts from broken glass and jagged metal. Those cuts will heal, but the ones inside cannot be touched by the skilled surgeon's scalpel.

A third youth had almost stopped bleeding. The seat and his clothing were covered in blood from an arterial cut in his arm by the broken bone end that protruded from his forearm just below his elbow. His breath came in gasps as he tried desperately to suck air past his blood-filled airway. He was unable to speak, and his eyes — bulged and fixed on me pleadingly— were the only communication that he was terrified and wanted my help.

I felt a pang of guilt and recognized him as the boy I had let off with a warning the other night for an open container of alcohol in the car. Maybe if I had charged him then he would be alive. Who knows? I don't.

He died soundlessly in my arms, his pale blue eyes staring vacantly as if trying to see into a future he would never have. I remember watching him play basketball, and I wondered what would happen to the scholarship he would never use.

My mind focused on loud screaming, and I identified it as the girl who was thrown from the vehicle. I raced to her with a blanket but was afraid to move her. Her head was tilted at an exaggerated angle.

She seemed unaware of my presence, and whimpered for her mother. In the distance, I heard the mournful wail of the ambulance winding its way through the rainy night. I was filled with incredible grief at the waste of so valuable a resource, our youth.

The ambulance crew began the job of scraping up and removing the dead and injured. I stood; hot tears mingled with the rain and dripped off my cheeks.

You ask me, why did this happen? It happened because a young person, stoned out of his mid, thought he could handle two tons of hurtling death at 80 mph. It happened because an adult, trying to be a good guy, bought for or sold to some minor a case of beer.

It happened because you, as parents, weren't concerned enough about your child to know here he was or what he was doing, and you were unconcerned about minors and alcohol abuse and would rather blame me for harassing them when I was only trying to prevent this kind of tragedy. It happened because, as people say, you believe this sort of thing happens only to someone else. I become sick with anger and frustration when I think of parents and leaders who believe a

■ Letter to the Editor

Thanks to former LRHA Board member Diana Anderson

Dear Diana:

For the last few years you were appointed to the Lakeland Regional Health Authority Board, with all the changes being made to the system, that was a difficult undertaking.

Being Ed's wife has given me a front seat to some of the work that goes on behind the scenes. I know of the late, cold meals, long hours worked, many miles driven, loss of sleep, hundreds of phone calls and meetings that you spent in working to save our hospital.

To be dismissed for your efforts seems unjust and has left me feeling disheartened for you.

So I wanted to let you know how very much I appreciated your years of dedicated service to our community, how proud I am of all your accomplishments and to say "thank you so very much, Diana."

Be happy.

Sincerely yours,

Royal Purple installs new officers for 1999-2000

Elk Point Order of the Royal Purple installed their slate of officers for the coming year at their May 10 meeting, with District Deputy Betty Leshenko presiding over the ceremonies. "This is the first time I have installed only OORP officers," commented DD Leshenko, noting that Elks and Royal Purple usually hold joint installations, which has been the case in Elk Point in previous years.

Assisting in the installation were DD Leshenko's lodge sisters June Hurley as Assistant Installing Officer, Jan Peden as Installing Secretary, Bernie Warwarick as Installing Chaplain.

Stella Blazenko was installed for a second year as Honored Royal Lady, with Adeline Zenko retaining her post as Immediate Past Honored Royal Lady. Associate Royal Lady Irene Pilisko, Royal Lady Lois Sharek, Lecturing Lady Jean Ference, Secretary Verna Lazicki, Treasurer Lois Yaremkevich, Conductress Leona Moneta, Guard Cecile Sadowinski, Chaplain Lena Stepa, and Pianist Sharon Algot all remain in their positions for another term as well. Joyce Jendruk is the lone newcomer in the group, succeeding Mary Bochon as Historian.

As usual, Elk Point's Drill Team played an important role in the ceremony, escorting each candidate forward to be installed and then to their seat of office.

Honored Royal Lady Blazenko was presented with her Honored Royal Lady's pin by DD Leshenko, who also presented a pin to Pianist Sharon Algot, along with thanks for the fine music which she provides to the Lodge meetings.

The District Deputy wished all the new executive and lodge members a happy and successful year, as she handed over the gavel to the newly installed Honored Royal Lady.

Honored Royal Lady Blazenko said she was honored to have been chosen to lead the lodge for a second term, and feels it will be very successful, due to the help and excellent cooperation she receives from her members.

The evening concluded on a festive note, with lunch and visiting with the out-of-town guests.

Palliative Care hosts memorial service

Elk Point Health Centre's Palliative Care Committee held a touching and beautiful Memorial Service last Friday to remember over 30 former patients who have passed away in the last twelve months.

Prayers were offered by Rev. Paulette Phillips of Elk Point United Church, while Elk Point Baptist Church's Youth Pastor, Stewart Peterson, gave a scripture reading from Psalm121. Pastor Jim MacLellan spoke on empathy, and told the story of Martha, and Mary, who received perfect empathy from their good friend, Jesus, as they mourned the death of their brother, Lazarus.

A candle was lit for each departed patient, some by relatives and friends, some by the members of the Palliative Care Committee and Hospital Auxiliary, as each name was read by mistress of ceremonies Pam Ballas.

It was a sad occasion, and one full of memories, but a time of healing. Ms Ballas said "It makes it all worth it, when you can see you have helped people."

Is this supposed to be baseball weather?

May showers good for ducks but not for ball games

By Doug Bassett
Review Sports

April showers may bring May flowers, but what may May showers bring? Cancelled ball games. Is this suppose to be baseball weather? Well if you want to play ball in Alberta, it is. Here's my advice to all you ball players, playing ball in May or June. Always pack lots of layers. It's easier to take them off, than to freeze standing in the outfield. When the sun comes out, it's fairly warm, but when it goes down or behind a cloud, or if the wind comes up look out! It's like winter out there.

All the girls games were cancelled this past week, due to the cold and rainy weather, but the boys played. Is that because the boys are tougher than girls and can handle bad weather, or was Tuesday and Thursday nights better than Monday and Wednesday? Well Tuesday night, sure wasn't when the mighty mites, the rookies defeated St. Paul. "It was down right rotten and cold for playing ball. The rookies who's team consists of almost half T baller aged players are off to a great start.

The Mosquitoes with Jeff Huseby and Kody Wickham on the mound pitching in their first games ever, did very well even though they lost to St. Paul. This team still desperately needs some players, if any still wish to sign up.

Coach Rick Bilak and his Peewee boys, who also lost to St. Paul this past Thursday, would like to work on the basics, hitting, catching and throwing, but with this terrible cold spring it has been very difficult to practise.

Cold Lake may think they got the best of the Bantam boys this past Thursday night when they defeated them at home, but coach Jacques Demoissac has a secret weapon, pitcher Melvin Easthope was not put into the game. Although the bantam bats were quiet, the rookies Kevin Moneta and Mark Lestu both had big hits in the game.

Would you say the weather is hot? Not, unless you're a duck. But, would you say the Sox are hot? You're right. The Sox are having a great start to their season going 5 and 0 after this past weekend, and looking strong in every department, pitching, fielding and batting. Thursday night in Two Hills the Sox started with the "Big Unit" Greg Zarowny on the mound, then sent in Aaron Hansen to close, giving the Sox the 13 to 6 win.

Friday and Saturday it rained all day and the chance of playing ball looked slim, but by Sunday morning, the rain had stopped and Bassett Field, with it great drainage was ready to play. The Sox would meet Bonnyville and Lac La Biche in the mini round robin of the week. This was also a historic day at Bassett Field. Not just because it was the season home opener for the Sox against Bonnyville, but, since construction of the regulation major league diamond four years ago, no one has hit a ball out of Bassett Field. No one until this day. This field has a reputation around the league as the biggest outfield, a monster that has eaten many well hit balls. Who could do such a feat? What midget ball player could park a ball out of this major league ball diamond? Jordan "Buhner" Bassett, who ripped his first homer of the season clearing the fence and over the road past the 330 foot left field marker with a rising liner. There have been many homers hit inside this park, but this one, will go into the record books as the first and only ball to clear the fence to date. "Buhner" has hit many balls out of other parks, but never Bassett Field. Do you think I may be bragging just a little? That's my boy!

Starting on the mound against Bonnyville, was the big left hander Greg Zarowny who found the pay zone early and held it, allowing only two hits and one run in five innings. Then, "Jonny Boy" Yake came in to relieve, making the final 6 to 4.

Sunday afternoon at 4 pm the Sox looked like their streak was finally going to go down the tube, when Lac La Biche took a 9 to 4 lead. The Sox were facing a junk ball chucker, who had them going down, one after another swinging in the air, before Curtis Croteau leading off the fourth inning finally connected with the big one, an in the park home run. After his hit, an out of breath Curtis commented "that he has to get into shape, before he has to run that far again." With the bases 90 feet apart that's 360 feet altogether, or the same as doing a 100 meter dash. It's easier to trot around like "Buhner" did. After Curtis homer rattled the Lac La Biche starting pitcher, the Sox then loaded up the bases, and up to bat came the "Big Unit" Greg Zarowny with an in-the-park grand slam to give the Sox the lead. The final in this one 19 to 11 for the Sox.

Tonight the Sox are in Bonnyville, then will be taking the long weekend off for the Class of '99 celebrations.

Gymkhana this weekend

Elk Point Agricultural Society is hosting a LGA-approved Gymkhana this weekend at the Elk Point Fairgrounds.

Action starts at 12:00 noon on Sunday, May 23 and Monday, May 24 for a full range of gymkhana events including barrel racing, pole bending, flag picking, stake and keyhole races. Prizes will be awarded in each event and age category: mite (8 and under), peewee (9 to 11), junior (12 to 15) and men's and ladies' (16 and over). Both LGA members and non-members are welcome.

If the weather does not cooperate, events will be held indoors at the C. G. Baker Arena.

Crusaders win at County badminton

By Leanne Wilson
Student Journalist

Hello from F. G. Miller High School.

Congratulations to Ms Cameron and her Junior High badminton team. At County Championships in St. Paul on April 29, these Crusaders definitely proved that F. G. Miller has got what it takes. The results prove this. The following doubles teams progressed to bronze medals but fell short of placing third: Tyrell Bintz, Kristyn Ballas; Mark Ference, George Danyluk; and Sheena Flamand, Brandi Becker. Doubles team Aaron West, Jonathan Buryn and Jaylynn Wirsta, Sarah Goulet captured bronze medals. Winning the only silver medal was Carson Mutch. Winning the battle for gold was Brian Poitras, Randy Lajimodiere for boys doubles and Kali Cousins, Cory Henderson for mixed doubles. The other members of the team may not have placed in the top three but they were close behind, challenging many other teams. Next year, these players will definitely be a threat.

MOTHER'S DAY TEA

On May 7, F. G. Miller hosted a Mother's Day Tea to give mothers a pleasant, enjoyable afternoon. From 2:00 to 3:00 p.m., students and their mothers were entertained by local talent and too many goodies.

Congratulations to Dorothy Benson who won the lovely basket raffled off by the French Club. Thank you to all the organizers and helpers, Mrs. Gulayec, Mrs. Lindquist, Ms Smereka, Mrs. Mc Farland and the staff who donated the squares. Also thanks to all the mothers for attending the tea.

Well, that's all from the halls of F. G. Miller. Until next week...

Community Choirs warms hearts with their music

Soprano Dixie Coleman dedicated her solo, "Someone To Watch Over Me," to her husband Jim.

The Choir's final set started off with "What Is The Color Of God's Skin" with Barb Buryn at the piano. Next came one of the Choir's favorite numbers, the quirky "After-Beeps," followed by "I Am A Small Part Of The World." Linda Peters joined Deanna Easthope at the piano for "Rhythm Of Life." The final number on the program, "Say It With A Song" met with a standing ovation, with director Don Buryn and the Choir obliging with an a capella version of 'Rolling In An Unfriendly World" as their encore.

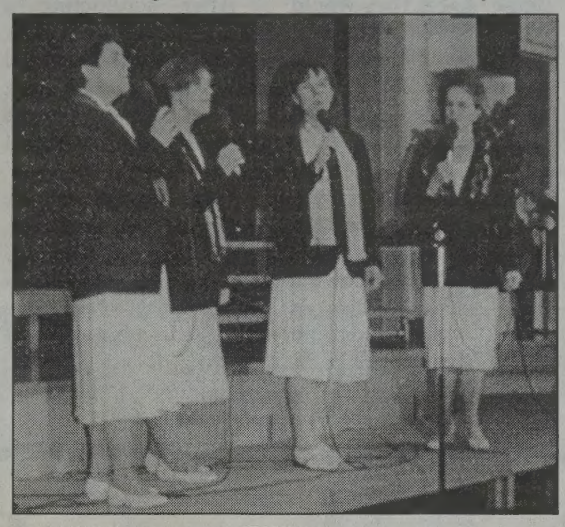
COME HITHER COOL -- Shaun Sheplawy, alias Roy Orbison, serenades a "Pretty Woman."



A HARMONIOUS INTERLUDE was provided by Laurie Keichinger, Sarah Osinchuk, Kim Beardy and Shirley Osinchuk, in both ballad and barber-shop blues styles.

CHOIR BURSARY WINNER Patricia Keichinger is congratulated by choir VP Barb Buryn.

WILD AND WESTERN -- Don Buryn, Don Conrad, Garry Townsend and Udo Mueller add a western note to the concert with "Ghost Riders In The Sky."

'Tightrope' to perform in Elk Point on May 29

By Dee Pankiw
Review Contributor

The Band Tightrope will be riding in from Calgary to play at the Elks Hall on Saturday, May 29. This rhythm and blues/ classic rock band will be providing the music for the beerfest for the Jan Frisby Memorial Slowpitch tournament to be held at the Elk Point Recreational Park diamonds that weekend.

Of the four members of the band, the most familiar locally is Travis Pankiw. He was invited to join the band after they heard his self-produced original CD in December 1998. Since then, the band has added a number of Travis' original songs to their repertoire. He is thoroughly enjoying his work doing vocals and rhythm guitar with the band. They are great musicians and fun to work with. Travis is not afraid to take chances. He opens himself up to the crowd on a journey with explosive energy.

Other members of the band come with far greater experience. Dan Burritt on drums/percussion and Dale Ehman on bass formerly played with the Calgary country rock band Scarecrow. Burritt, who has played professionally for over 20 years, has toured Europe and opened for acts such as Prairie Oyster. His distinctive diversified rhythms form the core of the band. Ehman keeps the groove alive with bass licks. He comes to the band with professional training and 16 years experience. Together for over five years, Dan and Dale put the "tight" in Tightrope. Dan Orydzuk on lead guitar provides the band's distinctive sound. During his 25 years as a professional musician, he has toured western Canada with various A circuit bands, opening for such acts as Long John Baldy and David Wilcox. Grounded by Burritt and Ehman's rhythms. Orydzuk provides the originality that makes the music soar.

Tightrope is sure to please those who want to dance and those who enjoy listening to classic rock music. This band provides a high energy experience. Travis Pankiw fans will not be disappointed. He will be providing some of your favorite numbers as well as some new material he has written since the December CD. Tickets for the beerfest are on sale at Hillside Service and Home Hardware in Elk Point and at Double A Sports in St. Paul. Because of liquor sales, minors will not be admitted. For more information, call Dee at 724-2250.

Aboriginal Youth Arts Festival and Pow Wow coming to Kehewin

A two day festival celebrating the dances, music, theatre and visual arts of Aboriginal youth is slated for May 19 and 20 at Kehewin High School. The youth of the High School Cultural Fine Arts classes have worked hard to bring together dancers, drummers, musicians and performers for the festival. The festival will be held at the school and nearby Pow Wow grounds.

Tipis will be set up to provide informal sessions for youth on how to attain desired goals and where to look for funding, education and support.

Workshops on writing and playwriting, modern and traditional music, screen acting and Inuit storytelling are scheduled for both mornings, while the afternoons focus on performances by Aztec and Inuit dancers, local Pow Wow and Metis dancers, and music. Wednesday evening, after a theatre show by the Cultural Fine Arts classes, the school will host a double big screen Much Music dance.

Thursday evening will feature theatre shows by a Saskatchewan group and Big Sky Theatre, prior to the closing ceremonies.

Regional landfill closer to final stage

By Rhonda Noyce
Staff Writer

Local municipalities are taking the next step to forming a regional waste management structure that would see the end to small landfills throughout the country.

The issue before the municipalities in the Evergreen Regional Waste Management Commission right now is the monetary structure for capital costs.

In order to form a commission, each municipal council must also pass a resolution to join the commission.

The County of St. Paul passed their resolution at their council meeting last week and said they would not attach any conditions to the agreement, unlike some other members of the Evergreen commission.

There are eight municipalities signed up for the regional landfill, including the County of St. Paul, Town of St. Paul, County of Smoky Lake, Town of Smoky Lake, Town of Elk Point and the Villages of Vilna, Waskateneau and Warspite. St. Paul County council said they knew of at least one municipality that passed their resolution to join the commission with conditions attached.

The main area of disagreement among the municipalities is the share of capital costs in setting up the regional landfill site.

Each municipality's share had been broken down by equalized assessment, population and tonnage.

The County of St. Paul, the County of Smoky Lake and Vilna think capital costs based on population is the most fair formula. However, the towns think the formula should be based on equalized assessment.

When you look at the numbers, you can see why. For example, the County of St. Paul would pay $282,282 (36 per cent) under population, but they would pay $345,653 (44 per cent) under equalized assessment. The Town of St. Paul would pay $221,452 (28 per cent) under population, but $138,985 (18 per cent) under equalized assessment.

The biggest difference is for the County of Smoky Lake. They would pay $123,970 (16 per cent) under population, while paying $215,754 (28 per cent) under equalized assessment.

The tonnage rates per municipality take a totally different turn in the grand scheme. The Town of St. Paul produces the most garbage at 40.9 per cent ($314,796 share of costs). The County of St. Paul comes in second at 27.6 per cent ($212,676); the County of Smoky Lake comes in third at 12 per cent ($92,884) and Elk Point is fourth at 10.2 per cent ($78,588).

After conducting a study of how other municipalities shared capital costs, most have gone with population instead of equalized assessment.

"The middle of the road is the fair place to be, and that's population," said County of St. Paul Reeve Robert Bouchard.

The commission's next meeting is on May 20 where they will be voting on the matter.

Elk Point United Church news

THIS SUNDAY, May 23: This Sunday is the Day of Pentecost, the day on which, according to the Bible, the Holy Spirit descended upon the apostles. See the Book of Acts 2:1-21. These readings are emphasized in the theology of the Pentecostal churches within the Christian community.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK:

Thou dost make springs break out in the gullies, so that their water runs between the hills. The wild beasts all drink from them, the wild asses quench their thirst; the birds of the air nest on their banks and sing among the leaves. Psalms 104:10-12.

Final report on Health Summit

By Paul Langevin, MLA
Lac La Biche - St. Paul

In December of 1998, our government announced Health Summit '99 and launched a process for seeking input on four key questions:

■ What is essential in Alberta's health system?

■ What changes should be made in how health services are delivered and managed?

■ What responsibility do individuals have for their own health?

■ How much money is enough to sustain our publicly funded health system?

Two hundred participants were invited to Calgary on February 25 - 27 to discuss and debate those four questions and to provide advice and recommendations on important directions for the future of Alberta's health system. Summit participants represented a wide range of people directly involved or working in the health system combined with an equal number of randomly selected people chosen from across the province. The Summit was chaired by Harley Johnson, the former Ombudsman for Alberta.

The Final Report of this summit has now been released and contains 30 recommendations to government on important directions for the future of Alberta's health system. This report summarizes what was heard from both the participant at the Summit and other Albertans who contributed their thoughts and ideas through the public consultation process. Every attempt has been made to capture the scope of the ideas presented, as well as to draw out a number of common themes that emerged from the discussions.

A few of the common themes that emerged throughout the discussions and submissions are as follows:

1. People know what they want from the health system. Our health system should reflect the basic values and principles that Albertans have about the system.

2. Albertans want a comprehensive, publicly funded and administered health system that is flexible and meets changing health needs. Government should continue to support a comprehensive, publicly funded and publicly administered health system.

3. It is time for a clear plan for the future of Alberta's health system. Government should establish a forum for health planning to develop a long term plan for Alberta's health system and this plan should be communicated with all Albertans.

4. There are priority areas where changes can and should be made. Government should place a higher priority on province-wide strategies designed to promote good health and prevent illness and injury.

5. Health is a shared responsibility. Government should continuously review its policies on children, on education, social services, environment, justice, and other key areas to assess their impact on the long term health of people in the province and make changes wherever possible to improve health.

6. We need to find ways to sustain Alberta's health system. Government should ensure that there is sufficient funding available to support and sustain a comprehensive publicly funded health system. Funding for health should not be at the expense of other priority areas including education, social services and infrastructure.

7. The public should have effective ways of participating in future directions. Government should significantly expand its efforts to inform people about the health system, how much it works and how much it costs.

It is interesting to note that responses to many of the recommendations contained in the final report are already in the planning stages or being implemented through existing programs and services. The next steps in dealing with this important report will be for government to carefully examine all the results and recommendations contained within it. This will enable the government to make the best planning decisions possible for the health care needs of all Albertans.

If you would like a copy of the final report, please contact Alberta Health Communications at (780) 427-7164. You can also find the final report on the Health Summit '99 website located at www.health-summit.gov.ab.ca/

We are interested in hearing your views on these recommendations. You can do this by contacting Alberta Connects toll-free at 310-4455, or by mailing your comments to: Government of Alberta, P.O. Box 1333, Edmonton, Alberta T5J 2N2.
